“ I worked for Ray in the late 90’s. Several folks had warned me how hard it was working with a crew that was all related to each other. From day 1 he treated me no different than his boys. And his boys treated me no different than their uncle “Frog” or cousin Marvin. Ray was good to me in more ways than one. I loved working for him and moreover really enjoyed just talking to him and listening to his stories around the fire when he would pull up to the setting around 9-9:30 (after he had his coffee and checked on everyone at k-kountry). He was the kind of fella that when he talked to you he would look you in the eye and you knew beyond the shadow of a doubt he meant exactly what he said. When he found out I had opened the lumberyard he made it a priority to get what he could from us. That meant so much to Karla and I. One of his favorite sayings (that I have shared with others 1000 times) is “If a man works hard all week long he should be able to buy a steak and enjoy it.” He truly cared about not only his family but all of us. As I told Kevin” He was a man amongst men.” I and anyone who knew him will miss him. You touched lots of people Timberjack, including me. And I’m forever grateful and honored to have had you as my friend. Love you buddy.
