“ I got to know Orene when I taught school at Nashoba and had her daughter, Judy, in school there. Orene did my laundry for me the last few years that I was at Nashoba and always did such a good job and I wanted to pay her more, but she would never let me. That's just the kind of lady that she was and always made me feel at home when I visited her and her family. Orene didn't just profess to be a Christian, but lived her life every day of the week as an example of how Christians should live. She is now in the presence of Jesus and is waiting on those of us who loved her to leave this life some day and be with her again. May the Lord Jesus bless and comfort the family as they go through their grieving for her.

“ When my great grandma Wanda passed my great grandpa Cleburne Jeffcoat met and married Great Grandma Orea Jeffcoat, I remember going to church with grandma and grandpa one time, I told grandma her necklace was pretty and she gave it to me... but one of my favorites is that she was at my son's dedication and was able to hold him ♡ I will forever cherish that memory and those pictures!

“ Grandpa Jeffcoat met one special lady when he met Grandma Orea.. we all spent lots of special moments together and made lots of memories ..my granddaughter loved playing games with her and signing with her and is devastated she is not here..she loved her dearly as did we all. We may be hurting here on earth but Grandma Orea is rejoicing in Heaven right now and we will see her again soon ♡ I love you so much

*I only knew her through your eyes
Gina but you painted such a beautiful picture of a Godly beautiful woman and such sweet sweet memories you shared.

“ I've kept in touch with Mama Orene for over 56 years now, especially so the last 32, since my parents went to heaven. The Hammans were always dear friends to our family since their days in western Oklahoma. I just loved it when Orene called me. It was as if we'd visited only the last week or so, and she always left me feeling uplifted and loved. I'd been close to all 3 of her offspring as we grew up, and she liked to remind me that I really should have been her daughter in law, if things had worked out her way. She'd have been a great mom in law, too, I have no doubt, because she was a priceless friend. The world is a lonelier place without her, but I can truly say that earth's loss is heaven's gain. She has just given us all one more great reason to join her in her "mansion in the sky." I love you, Mama Orene. See you when my chores are through!
